Subject No. 32.

Police Daffedars to be invested with powers of investigation.

Messrs. Narasimha Murthi Rao, Channaboregowda and Channappa, Mandya Taluk.

Summary of Representation.

Police officials, such as Daffedars, have been divested of the power of entertaining cases brought before the Police Stations since the introduction of Police Investigation Scheme. The Police Sub-Inspectors and Jamadars who are invested with these powers are often absent from the stations, and consequently there is delay in the entertainment of cases. This enables the offenders to escape and encourages theft and such other criminal offences. Therefore the Daffedars and other police officials may be invested with the power of investigation.
